Support for life

We helped Stav's family overcome financial worries

Stav works part-time at a car dealership, however he suffers from severe rheumatoid arthritis. As a result, he is unable to work for long periods at a time. His wife also works part-time in order to be able to take care of their children during the school holidays, which means that the family struggles financially.

Over a period of several years, Stav has been too unwell to be able to work and this has resulted in the couple building up debts. This has caused them severe anxiety and they approached us in order to seek some help and remedy their current situation.

The past few years had been extremely stressful for the family and they were frustrated at being unable to take their children for a weekend away and a much-earned break.

Ben was able to assist Stav and his family by supporting them to access professional debt advisors, who were able to renegotiate their repayments. They also got support with budgeting and money management. As a result of the support from Ben, the family became more financially secure and were also able to spend some time away together.
