Gender Pay Gap Report 2017

Under the legislation that came into force in April 2017, UK employers with more than 250 employees are required to publish their gender pay gap in order to show what the pay gap is between male and female employees.

Headline gender pay figures

The information below shows our median and mean gender pay gap and bonus pay gap based on hourly rates of pay as at 5th April 2018 and bonuses paid in the year to 5th April. Where the analysis shows a positive figure, this denotes the pay percentage for male colleagues exceeded that of female colleagues. Where there is a negative figure this denotes the pay percentage for female colleagues exceeded that of male colleagues.

Pay and bonus gap

Upper Middle	-2.5%
Lower Middle	0.4%
Lower Quartile	1.9%

Understanding the gap

Ben's workforce is made up of significantly more female than male staff and the lower paid roles of care staff, housekeeping and catering staff are predominately undertaken by female colleagues. At the reporting date Ben employed 100 men and 319 women. This profile reflects the nature of both the care and health and wellbeing sectors.

Although there is an overall (mean) pay gap of 17.3%, there is only a significant difference in the Upper Quartile. This is because this quartile consists of a wide range of roles, from Care Centre Managers to the Executive team. In the two lowest quartiles the pay gap is a much smaller and we are confident that men and women are paid equally for doing the equivalent jobs across our organisation. The pay gap is related to colleagues carrying out different roles within the same quartile.

With regards to bonuses, the variance relates to the job roles where bonuses are included. Ben currently has more male colleagues employed in those roles, albeit that the level of bonuses paid to female colleagues was greater than to male colleagues.

Ben is an inclusive and diverse organisation where all colleagues have the opportunity to work to their potential.
